

Kings Document Solutions

Consultancy is available from Kings Document Solutions – If you are reviewing your document management strategies and feel the need to obtain an entirely independent review of your processes – call Kings

Kings excel in providing print, document delivery and distribution strategy reviews, benchmarking performance, providing solutions and recommending best practices. Since the early beginnings of the company in 1989, our expertise has grown as a direct result of working within hundreds of companies, our help in influencing work practices, identifying digital on-line document solutions and incorporating change management policies has proved extremely beneficial to clients, who are considering significant changes

We recognise that the demands facing our clients are challenging. Clients are increasingly seeking superior performance in project management and genuine improvements in the delivery of service. Our solutions are unique. We do not sell equipment or provide facilities management services. Our focus is always on our client, and the needs of their business. This guarantees independent reviews and recommendations and has secured our reputation for the highest ethical standards available within the industry.

Kings have the vision and culture to develop solutions, which deliver improved value projects and facilities for clients. We use innovative applications and superior analytical skills to solve your problem. We have project teams that can be assembled at short notice.

Most importantly, we have the experience and the capability to work in partnership with you, whether you are re-evaluating your document management strategies or reviewing software applications and hardware within your organisation.

If you are considering a more focused e-commerce delivery solution, speak with Kings before you go anywhere else. Call us on 020 8303 2525.
